

The service XM radio is invaluable to the trucking industry and also to the every day over the road traveler. Its so much easier to tune into a channel and be able to get up to the minute traffic and weather information from a distance instead of having to get within normal radio range of AM and FM stations. Thus making it easier to make adjustments in travel plans. Like avoiding a certain highway because there is a wreck or maybe the traffic is stalled due to construction. The NAB needs to sit back and take lessons from what XM radio provides to their listeners.

It is a subscription service so why do they get upset?

Message to the NAB.. Waaaaa!!!! Grow up..
